

FRANKE TOBEY JONES

Meet Resident Joe and Dolores McCaffery

Joe and Dolores met in 1951 at the University of San Francisco where both were working on their Master's degrees in education. Prior to that Dolores graduated in 1947 from the San Francisco College for Women and received her secondary teaching credential from SFCW in 1948. They were married in 1952 and Joe continued to work for the San Francisco United School District until 1989. After retirement, Joe spent over 20 years as a volunteer at Laguna Honda Hospital (for the aged and infirm). He is also a military veteran serving in the 7th Cavalry under Colonel Brice Custer.

Dolores became a stay at home mother of 4, and was involved in numerous volunteer activities. She retired in 1991 from the Archdiocese, of San Francisco having served 17-1/2 years as secretary to two bishops and the Director of Finance.

As their children became adults Joe and Dolores' passion became international travel. They have been to all seven continents with Africa being their favorite.

After living in the City of San Francisco most of their lives, they moved to Tacoma to be near one of their daughters. They chose FTJ as their retirement home because "The campus is so gorgeous. We love driving in here everyday...we feel like we are living in a resort setting." Dolores says, "We enjoy the Garden Apartments very much. Everyone is so friendly, yet we have all the privacy we want and need. Shirley, the Garden Apartment Concierge, is lovely and helps us in anyway we need. We find everyone at FTJ to be exceptionally friendly and helpful. The staff couldn't be better, and we couldn't ask for a nicer place to live. Choosing FTJ was one of the most important and best decisions we have made."
